Contemporary Art in the Classroom

Date: Saturday, September 16th, 2006

Time: 10am - 1pm

Location: Morris Graves Museum of Art
636 F Street, Eureka, CA

Who are today's artists?

What are they thinking about?

How do they describe their work?

Why do they do
what they do?

Where do they find inspiration?

How can educators bring contemporary art
into the classroom?

Presented in partnership with the Morris Graves Museum of Art and KEET-TV, this workshop will introduce short films about contemporary artists, encourage discussion about the art of our time, and explore ways to integrate thematic and interdisciplinary curricula into teaching and learning.

Participants will be introduced to web-based, print, and video materials for the classroom based on the educational resources produced to accompany the PBS series Art:21—Art in the Twenty-First Century. All participants will receive free copies of the Season Three Educators' Guide and DVD.

Art21 is a non-profit contemporary art organization dedicated to introducing national, and increasingly international, audiences to contemporary visual art and artists working in the United States today.

This workshop is recommended for middle and high school visual art teachers and museum educators.

This workshop is free but space is limited. Reserve a space by contacting Rebecca Froelich, Museum Programs Manager at the Morris Graves Museum, at (707) 442-0278.
